STEP 5.

By D.L.

My sponsor was subtle. "I have a busy weekend but, if you want to take the 5th Step with me, we could do it after the meeting Friday."

So, I guess I'm finishing my 4th Step inventory before Friday. (gulp)

We attended the same meetings 3 times a week, so he had checked in after each one for a week and half about my progress in jotting down resentments, fears, and behaviour I was ashamed of (like my sexual conduct) – and wrote out what part I'd played in each of them. Now he figured it was time to rip off the band-aid by getting Step 5 done instead of wallowing for ages in my own muck.

Friday after work I collect up my notes before heading to the meeting. As soon as it's over, we head to a bus stop together. Sitting alone at the back of the bus, he turns to me casually and says:

"Okay, let's hear your part in all of that."

No big set up, no fanfare, just me suddenly frozen in fear.

I immediately realize that a third of this stuff he's not going to hear. No one is. Ever. I'm taking it to my grave. Some things are just too shameful to ever share with anyone. So, I start with the resentments I can share. There are plenty of those too. Before I know it, we get off the bus and start walking around a huge park. For two and a half hours, I keep reading out my part in the things that made me angry or afraid and he keeps nodding and grunting - never sounding surprised -- just sounding like he can relate.

Instead of feeling weak or judged, I start to feel

'heard', understood, less alone, accepted.

I even forget to skip the darker parts I'm most ashamed of. It all comes up. How I continuously wished for my dad to die on the highway every week when he commuted out of town. Backstabbing people who made me look bad or feel bad.

Constantly pretending to be whatever I thought people wanted me to be so they would like me. Lying everyday to get what I wanted from colleagues, roommates, boyfriends, family, other AA members -- even having lied to my shrink and my sponsor. (gulp)

Hurting a pet fish or an injured bird as a kid. Stealing money where I worked. Cheating on a partner. Buying a friend drinks because he was more likely to have sex after a long night of drinking.

It all came out. All the emotional garbage I'd pushed down through my teens and twenties now came back up spring loaded since I didn't drink anymore to numb me out while having to carry it around.

I went home that night stunned. Probably in shock.

But morning hit hard. I had just outed myself about exactly the worst things I thought anyone could ever know about me. The things I tried to hide every day for years. For years! The fears I thought made me weak, vulnerable. The resentments that showed I was wounded, petty, vengeful. The things I'd done that left me ashamed, knowing no one could ever like the real me once they found out. Everything that I drank to numb was right out there in the open to be used against me. What have I done?!

Here I was, the day after Step 5; my head was spinning, my gut was in an uproar, my body felt sick all over. I was back to being the scared 8- or 10-year-old kid who hadn't perfected all the survival skills the book now told me were actually character defects: all the messed-up reactions to life I'd been covering over until now with booze. Then the phone rang.

My sponsor asked how I was feeling and, for the first time I could remember I gave the most honest answer of my life: "Horrible! I feel sick all over. Scared s---less."

I could almost hear him nod gently, as he said he'd be at my place shortly and we could go for a walk.

That may be the moment I deliberately turned my will and my life over to the care of something greater than me that could handle however I was feeling even without my knowing how. I talked honestly about feeling so raw and exposed. He didn't judge, and he didn't tell me what to feel.

Fear, resentment, and shame didn't disappear, but I also felt a little relief, acceptance, hope. My gut started to feel hugely better. I didn't know it then but that walk on the morning-after was the real beginning of freedom from the heavy load of crap I used to carry everywhere every day. All these years later, I can't even remember most of my original 4th Step because Steps 5-9 took all that away.

He shared how he'd felt after taking the 5th Step. How it left him desperate to get on with cleaning up the mess his life had been, healing the person he'd become. How he felt relieved like never before. Gawd, yes! I needed that too. How soon can we start?

"Well, you have the book on the 12 Steps & 12 Traditions. The chapter on Step 6 is only a few pages. If you read that a couple of times today to let it sink in, and then again tomorrow, we can meet and go over it together for an hour before the Sunday night meeting."

ON STEP 5.

By Lilly W.

As I enter into step five
I realize how wonderful it is to be alive
Alive in my truths, my transformations
the letting go of painful events from my youth
I am free to be me
To acknowledge to others the scale of my inventory
This story that no longer holds me down
I am free now to walk with a smile, no longer a frown
This road to recovery , the big book, our steps
My drinking , for this day no longer a threat
And its all “JUST FOR TODAY “
I let the spirit of my sobriety have me

My Personal Journey into the 12 Steps by Lilly W.

Be aware, Be not afraid
I awoke one morning with this in my head
“Awake this moment: now get out of bed”
Your life is unraveling, the chaos is clear,
Get yourself to a meeting, listen and hear”

1. You admit you are powerless to an addiction you choose, Are you going to keep blaming? It is your life you will lose.
2. You admit a power greater than yourself, you have friends that are with you , I sent them to help.
3. You made a decision to give me your will , I am speaking to you , listen , be still.
4. Now is the step where you go deep within ,look at yourself, be fearless, your patterns , when did they begin?
5. You admitted your wrongs to me and yourself, Now it is time to confess to someone else.
6. You have the courage to do what it takes,I am removing your shadow patterns and your heartaches.
7. Being humbled , you started to feel , It is here you’ll find wisdom, you’re ready to heal .
8. Your amends there are many, Too numerous to count,It is in the past now your guilt, can’t be found.
9. These memories are yours, No harm can be done, Let others “Live and Let Live”, your new life has begun.
10. As you continue your journey ,remember your light, when shadow advances, admit , accept and do what is right.
11. As you pray daily to me and yourself , deep into your meditation is where I do dwell.
12. This awakening is not yours to keep, Go out, speak truth and help those who still weep. Remember that day you awoke without aid, BE AWARE- BE NOT AFRAID.

Pearls of Wisdom

This column features simple pearls of wisdom which have been imparted to members over the years.

A lot of self-mastery builds confidence.

Pray for that person.

Realize that it is but for the grace of God.

That's your EGO talking, not God!

Don't put God in a box.

Give yourself a break. It's hard to let go.

Expectations are too high.

It gets better.

Feeling that we're God. That the world revolves around us.

Feeling less than. It's not the truth.

What other people think of you is none of your business.

Ask God to remove it.

Please submit your Pearls of Wisdom to: newsletter@ottawaaa.org
Thank you for your service!

Group History

Presented by Ottawa AA Archives

Stittsville Second Chance Group

Founded: 1990

The Stittsville Second Chance meeting takes place Tuesday nights at 8:00 pm at St. Thomas Anglican Church, located at 1619 Main Street in Stittsville at the corner of Carleton Cathcart Street. It is usually a closed discussion meeting, which breaks into 2 discussion groups, a Big Book discussion as well as a 12 Steps and 12 traditions discussion group. Our Big Book group starts at the prefaces, and we have expanded through the first 164 pages, returning to doctor's opinion at the discretion of the group chair. Our Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions group reads and discusses a tradition on the first Tuesday of the month, and continues through the steps on other Tuesdays. The last Tuesday of every month, our meeting is an open speaker meeting, where we celebrate anniversaries. Our group recently decided that even if we do not have a celebration, we would still have an open speaker meeting at the end of the month. Our meeting description was updated to reflect this change in the local meeting directory so that attendees would know to expect wither an open or closed meeting.

The group was started in May 1990, celebrated their 10th anniversary in 2000, and celebrated their 25th in May of 2015. The founding members of the group included Mickey R, Mike P and Murray S. The group's name was given by Russ B., who got it from another anonymous young person. The group started when one of the founding members, Mickey R., was told he may need a liver transplant and wanted a group he could walk to during recovery.

Details of the new meeting spread through Intergroup and by word of mouth. The meetings were primarily discussion using the 12 Steps and Twelve Traditions, in a nursery room in the Church basement, and when it grew tables were used and the members were face to face as the tables were set up with no space between them to ensure that all felt close to each other and could hear each other. As time passed and the meeting grew, the tables were separated and eventually removed, and we now have a chair who faces the group. Meetings have been and continue to be chaired by members on a rotating basis among attendees.

There is a good mix of members of all ages & it's pretty much always a varied group. We strive to provide a safe, welcoming place for the newcomer and regular members alike. Initially, local Stittsville residents made up the group membership, in addition to having Meadow Creek at meetings for years while they were located in Carp, up until they moved to the ROH. It was one of the first discussion meetings in the area. Membership has grown over the years, and we average about 35 members attending on any given Tuesday. Our Big Book discussion has significantly increased meeting attendance since its inclusion around 2013.

Business meetings are held on the 3rd Tuesday of every month. Those people celebrating birthdays are asked to attend the previous month's business meeting to schedule their birthday celebrations, which are held on the last Tuesday of the month.

As for service commitments, for years, the group's early focus was the Meadow Creek program when it was in Carp. There is now a deep routed growing interest in taking on additional regular service commitments. In the last year, we have enthusiastically taken on commitments at Newgate, the Ottawa withdrawal management center, and McNabb while maintaining district and intergroup representation. The group underwent a group inventory in January 2018, which was very well received, and we have reviewed the minutes to determine how we wish to improve as a group. We generally discussed each concern (one per month based on business meeting attendance) and have indeed made all of the adjustments.

12 STEP CO-ORDINATOR

In 1935 Bill W , was desperately trying to stay sober. He thought that if he could talk to another alcoholic it might help. This thought turned into a fateful meeting with Dr. Bob and the rest is history.

" In spite of the great increase in the size and span of this global fellowship, at it's core remains simple and personal. Each day, somewhere in the world, recovery begins when one alcoholic simply talks with another alcoholic, sharing experience, strength and hope " we must not forget this is life or death to some.

Twelfth Step Calls occur when an A.A. member has a conversation with a newcomer about how they recovered from alcoholism. When an alcoholic gains the confidence of another by having this conversation, both the newcomer and the A.A. member benefit. For the newcomer, they are learning about a possible solution to their alcoholism. For the A.A. member, they are taking out an “insurance policy” against a future slip by passing onto the newcomer what was passed onto them when they first came to A.A.

Twelfth Step Calls today are no different than they were in 1935. They are still two (or more) alcoholics coming together to have a conversation about recovery from alcoholism. While many Twelfth Step Calls are still conducted through face to face conversations, some may also be conducted by telephone.

Intergroup is looking for a 12-step coordinator that will facilitate these connections, and manage the 12-step volunteer list. This is an incredibly important service, to help the still struggling alcoholic. For more info please reach out to please reach out to Steve R at 12step@ottawaaa.org.

In addition, we are also looking for people to make 12 step calls in the Kanata and Barrhaven areas. Please reach out to Steve.

TAS NEEDS YOU!

Our Primary Purpose is to carry the message to the still suffering alcoholic.

Telephone Answering Service (TAS) is the front line when the alcoholic reaches out for help. TAS is a help-line there for people reaching out, staffed by volunteer members of AA. These volunteers respond to a wide range of calls from questions about meeting locations to providing peer support to supporting someone in distress. For someone in desperate need, this could be their first step towards getting support. And we need your voice to be on the other end of the phone.

Taking a TAS shift is a great way to do service in AA, and can be done in person or virtually. You can do it from home. It can be done together with your sponsor, or with a group of people. TAS is based out of the Intergroup Office. This is a service commitment that can be picked up on a monthly basis either as an individual or as a group. Steve R, the TAS coordinator, has a slick calendar that shows what shifts are available. A shift is 3 hours. Check out the calendar here:

Mario C, who often takes on the commitment for the Freedom Group, had this to say:

“most people that call in are looking for a meeting and I help them find something in their part of town. There was one caller I remember—they were concerned that it was a religious program—I was able to steer them towards the spirituality of AA. The training you get is good and easy to follow. In terms of what qualities you need—kindness, a willingness to listen, and some general knowledge of AA steps and traditions and the big book.”

Thanks Mario!!

The sobriety requirement for this commitment is 1 year. If you have less, bring your sponsor. For more information, please reach out to Steve R at tas@ottawaaa.org.
